DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. The Restrictions that mailed 09/09/04 has been withdrawn.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 15, 17, 22, 30, 35 and 39 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 15, line 1, "the latch member" lacks an antecedent basis.

Claim 17, line 1, "ishingedly" should be changed -- is hingedly --.

Claim 22, line 2, "forrotatingly" should be changed -- for rotatingly --.

Claim 30, line 1, "wireconnector" should be changed -- wire connector --.

Claim 35, line 1, "connectorlug" should be changed -- connector lug --.

Claim 39, line 1, "afilm" should be changed -- a film --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3, 5-8, 11-17, 19-21, 24-34, 38-43 and 45-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yokoyama et al. (5,569,882).

Art Unit: 2839

Regarding claims 1, 16-17, 24-25, 27-28, 39 and 41, Yokoyama et al., figure 2, disclose an open-face electrical connector comprising:

- a housing (27a) having a chamber (55a);
- a sealant (91) located in the chamber;
- a wire connector lug (89) having an open jaw for lateral insertion of an electrical wire (83);
- a cover (27b) and
- a hinge (31).

Regarding claims 2 and 33, the hinge comprising a living hinge connecting the housing and the cover.

Regarding claims 3, 7, 19, 30-31 and 38, the wire connector lug having an I shape with an open jaw at each end, a cylindrical shaped wire receiver.

Regarding claims 5, 8 and 20, the cover and the housing comprising an electrically insulating material, a polymer plastic.

Regarding claim 6, the wire connector lug comprising an electrical conductor.

Regarding claims 11, 26 and 29, the sealant in the chamber comprising an amount sufficient to fill the chamber in the housing when the wire connector lug is positioned in the chamber.

Regarding claim 12, the wire connector lug is frictionally held in the cover.

Regarding claims 13, 34 and 40, the housing including a wire access opening on each side.

Regarding claims 14-15, 21 and 32, figure 3, the housing including a first latch member and the cover including a second latch member that cooperatively hold the cover in a closed condition, one of the latch members comprising an elongated opening and the other latch member comprising a lip (35) for insertion into the elongated opening.

Art Unit: 2839

Regarding claims 42-43 and 45-47, the features in the method claims are identical to those in the apparatus claims. Therefore, the method of forming a branch attachment alone is not a patentable feature.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 9-10, 18, 35-37 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yokoyama et al. (5,569,882).

Regarding claims 9-10, 18 and 44, Yokoyama et al. disclose the instant claimed invention as described above except for the sealant comprising a viscous sealant and silicone.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Yokoyama et al. to have the sealant comprising a viscous sealant and silicone, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416 for better protection.

Regarding claims 35-37, Yokoyama et al. disclose the instant claimed invention as described above except for the wire connector lug including J-shaped wire receiver or three wire receiver.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Yokoyama et al. to have the wire connector lug including J-shaped wire receiver or three wire receiver, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955), for better connection.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 4 and 22-23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. None of the reference discloses the wire connector lug having a threaded member for rotatingly engagement with the electrical wire, in combination with the other claimed elements of the embodiments recited.
